APPLICATION

Activities

Before the Lesson

While Activity

The teacher uses an artificial intelligence powered tool to prepare a presentation. The teacher enters the following prompt to the AI tool "Prepare a presentation about the most famous touristic places in Türkiye. The presentation should include the historical and cultural importance of each place and its interesting features for tourists. Also don't forget to include visuals." The teacher asks the students who see different places in Türkiye to guess these places. The teacher then asks the students what kind of places and touristic areas they would prefer to visit, considering the places in the presentation. The students ask their classmates these questions to find out which places they would like to visit. They

Post-Activity

The teacher notes the answers to these questions using web tools for instant feedback and displays them on the interactive whiteboard. To further engage the students and promote critical thinking, the teacher can ask follow-up questions based on the students' responses. For example, if a student mentions a historical landmark, the teacher could ask, "What do you know about the history of this landmark?" Or if a student suggests a local dish, the teacher could ask, "What are the main ingredients in this dish?" By asking follow-up questions, the teacher can encourage the students to think more deeply about the topic and share their knowledge and insights with the class.

Homework/Assignment

Before the Lesson

The teacher downloads engaging videos showcasing different cultures, festivals, sustainable tourism practices, and landmarks. The teacher informs the students about the evaluation process, which involves the students' active participation, pronunciation, grammar, engagement and ability to describe places, express preferences, provide explanations, make comparisons, and share experiences related to tourism and cultural activities (Annex-1).

Pre-Activity

To practise language skills and learn about different places, the teacher introduces a game to the students. In the image description game, the teacher displays a series of images depicting different tourist attractions or cultural landmarks. The students take turns describing the images using
