COME AND JOIN THE PARTY!

Course	English	Grade	7th Grade	Duration	4 lesson hours (4x40')

This scenario is designed to assist teachers in providing an effective learning experience utilising technology. The teacher may utilise this scenario, which is presented as an exemplar, or adapt it to align with the specific requirements of the students and the physical conditions of the educational institution.

Overview

This learning scenario fosters an effective learning environment by supporting the students in identifying offers, employing quantity words, and articulating sequences of actions through basic language structures. By engaging the students in interactive, game-based, and digitalised tasks, the scenario seeks to enhance their vocabulary, listening skills, and oral communication confidence. Integrating digital tools, technology-enhanced learning, and gamification strategies fosters active student engagement, motivating them to organise a party and take responsibility for the necessary arrangements.

Employing cooperative learning, storytelling, and gamification strategies fosters a dynamic, engaging, and motivating learning environment that is particularly appropriate for teenage learners. The strip sequence technique is an effective method to improve the students' understanding of language. Within this framework, the teacher assumes the role of a facilitator by offering structured guidance, explicit instructions, and timely feedback. The students actively engage in their learning process by collaborating with peers and using key language functions related to making, accepting, and refusing offers.

The learning process incorporates assessment through interactive components such as educational games and matching activities, as well as innovative tools like checklists. These strategies are designed to foster learner autonomy by encouraging the students to take ownership of their learning. The objective of these assessment methods is to transform evaluation into a more engaging and student-centred experience. Accordingly, the teacher provides immediate feedback throughout the session to reinforce learning outcomes and support knowledge consolidation.

APPLICATION

Activities

Before the Lesson

The teacher prepares a matching activity titled Special Days using one of the web tools for matching activities. Then, the teacher creates a story named Fancy Dress Party using one of the digital story creation tools (Annex-1). Finally, for the assessment, the teacher prepares multiple-choice questions titled Quiz Time using one of the web tools for multiple-choice questions (Annex-2).

Lesson 1 (Class)

Pre-Activity

The teacher begins the lesson by asking the students, "Do you like spending time with your friends and your family?" and "How often do you meet your friends and for what purpose?" Then, the students are invited to contemplate the significance of spending time with their friends and relatives. Subsequent to the discourse, the teacher initiates the Special Days matching activity on the interactive whiteboard. In this activity, the students are required to come to the board in pairs, view visuals such as a birthday party or a slumber party and match them with the corresponding special day. The objective of the activity is to draw attention to the importance of special days in our lives, and to emphasise the role of friends and family.

While Activity

Following the matching activity, the teacher initiates the Fancy Dress Party story, in which the students identify the phrases related to organising a party and the structures used for making suggestions (Annex-1). The students are then invited to work in groups of three to discuss the following questions: "Why do you think organising a party is challenging? Can you explain with examples? "Can you design a themed party plan and explain each step and the reason behind it?", "What might happen if we skip planning before an event? Imagine a scenario and explain." These questions are designed to encourage critical thinking, active listening, and structured speaking in an engaging way. Throughout the activity, the teacher provides ongoing feedback to support student participation and progress.

Post-Activity

Following the discussion, the teacher implements the Quiz Time multiple-choice questions to check the comprehension, in which the students are required to work in pairs to answer the questions related to the Fancy Dress Party story (Annex-2).

Before the Lesson

The teacher prepares a visual titled Sequence Chart using one of the visual creation and editing tools, and then prints it out and cuts it into sentences (Annex-3). Next, the teacher creates a template link titled Fancy Dress Party Template using one of the digital story creation tools. Finally, the teacher designs a digital board named Contribute to the Organisation using one of the tools for creating digital boards or sticky notes.

Lesson 2 (IT Class)

Pre-Activity

The teacher employs a sentence strip sequencing activity to facilitate the students' comprehension of the sequence of actions involved in organising a party. The teacher distributes jumbled sentences, and the students work in groups of four to arrange the strips in a sequence from planning the guest list to cleaning up after the event. The first group to complete the sequencing task is asked to read the sequence verbally. Meanwhile, the teacher displays the Sequence Chart on the interactive whiteboard to verify its accuracy (Annex-3). Finally, the students are required to formulate sentences describing how to organise a party in the correct order, using time connectors such as "first, then, and finally".

While Activity

Following the sentence strip sequencing activity, the teacher shares the template link for the Fancy Dress Party Template activity with the students. The students are then tasked with helping Cyber Ninja in organising the rest of the party and completing the story. The teacher divides the class into five distinct groups. The first group will write the invitation cards; the second group will arrange the cake and beverages; the third group will sort out the decorations; the fourth group will take care of the music; and the fifth group will organise everything and check that everything is ready. At the end of the lesson, the whole class will work together to create a product. The students will contribute to the collective endeavour within the larger group, while concurrently engaging in smaller groups. The teacher provides ongoing feedback to facilitate the students' engagement and progress throughout the activity.

Post-Activity

The teacher shares the link of the digital board Contribute to the Organisation with the students and asks them to share their group work on the digital board. The students need to provide feedback and give suggestions to their friends' stories using the structures such as, "How about...?" and "What about...?"

Before the Lesson

The teacher prepares a fill-in-the-blank activity titled Choose the Quantifier, using one of the web tools for fill-in-the-blank questions (Annex-4). The teacher then creates a video called Final Checks using one of the video editing tools and shares it on the EBA (Annex-5). In preparation for the subsequent lesson, the students are expected to feel ready for a role-play activity in a party by watching the provided video. They are also required to bring any props or materials necessary for their role play.

Lesson 3 (IT Class)

Pre-Activity

The teacher uses the Choose the Quantifier activity as a warm-up. In this exercise, the students work in pairs, filling in the blanks with the correct quantifiers and revising what they have learnt (Annex-4). For further practice, the students should form an additional sentence with the quantifier.

While Activity

Following the fill-in-the-blanks activity, the teacher initiates the Final Checks video, in which the students recognise the quantifiers and phrases related to suggestions (Annex-5). Upon completion of the video, the teacher requests that the students convene in groups of six to engage in a role-play activity. It is the responsibility of Cyber Ninja and Mr. Do-It-All to undertake the final checks, greet their guests, and engage in recreational activities with their guests. Groups are expected to devise a surprise ending for the party, record their role-play and share it on EBA. In the process of planning the role play, the students are required to use quantifiers, make suggestions, and accept or refuse them. The teacher circulates amongst the groups, offering continuous feedback to encourage and progress among the students throughout the activity.

Post-Activity

The students observe the role plays performed by their peers on EBA and provide feedback by liking or commenting on these performances. The students are invited to vote for the ending they consider to be the most creative, and for the performance they deem to be the best.

Related Skills: Communication, Collaboration, Digital literacy, Critical thinking, Creativity, Productivity

Before the Lesson

The teacher creates a word cloud titled Words for Celebration using one of the word cloud creation tools. The teacher then designs a Checklist using one of the visual creation and editing tools and shares it on EBA (Annex-6).

Lesson 4 (IT Class)

Pre-Activity

The teacher then presents the Words for Celebration word cloud, which contains vocabulary related to celebrations and special days. Following this, the students are required to form groups of six students and create an additional word cloud. This should consist of words related to the celebrations and types of special days.

While Activity

The students will continue to collaborate within their existing groups and are assigned the task of planning a surprise birthday party for a friend. They are expected to prepare a presentation outlining all the necessary preparations and steps for the event, using one of the interactive presentation tools. The students collaborate by assigning specific responsibilities to each member, and the presentations will then be shared on EBA. As part of the task, the students are specifically required to write an invitation card, include an offer, respond by accepting or refusing the offer, and use quantifiers to express amounts. The students are informed that they will present their work to their classmates at the end of the lesson. Innovative ideas will be voted on and awarded. The students employ the Checklist upon completion of their presentations to check the steps. The teacher circulates amongst the students, offering guidance and feedback as required.

Post-Activity

The students are invited to deliver their presentations, with the objective of persuading their peers of the distinctiveness and originality of their ideas.

Homework/Assignment

The students are assigned to complete the Reading Exercise: Jue on EBA. The students are required to read the passage and answer the questions.
